

- Do you want to change some aspect of your life?
- Do you wish to become smarter than others?
- Do you wish that others seek your advice?
- Do you wish for a better job and a higher wage?

If yes is your answer – then do not hesitate, come to see us at the College of Law (Juridiska koledža). The College awaits all who have come to the conclusion that life-long learning is a necessity, and that studies can be undertaken at any age. And yes, if you are not put off by not having attended school for more than ten years, and that you do not know a foreign language. Enrol in our evening classes, after working hours, i.e. 18:00-21:00 three nights a week. The place for studies is in the very centre of Riga, adjacent to the Saeima and the National Theatre. Or you may study on Saturdays, and not only in Riga, but also at our branches in Gulbene, Valmiera, Liepaja and Ventspils.

Those who live in remote areas or abroad may also consider distance learning to be the choice for you: in this case all course materials will be in your computer at home anywhere in the world.

The College has grown and over the past 15 years it has developed 5 study programmes, all of which have been evaluated highly and received international accreditation. After two years of study you may become a legal assistant, one who not only knows the law, but also the application of laws. After two years of study you may gain higher education in human resource management. Or perhaps you are interested in commerce, real estate management or accounting?

You are welcome! You will receive specialist diploma after only two years, together with an enhanced appreciation of legal issues.

If these study programmes do not appeal to you, then perhaps computer systems, management of computer networks or programming are inviting? Yes, this is our most recent programme, the need for which has been dictated by the demands of the job market, which is faced by a present shortfall – and there will continue to be an increased future shortfall – of information technology specialists. Furthermore, we alone in Latvia offer students in this programme a number of courses on legal subjects, combined with courses on computer science.

Studying with us – at the most senior and, in terms of graduates, at one of the largest colleges in Latvia, is prestigious. You will after two years acquire not only a diploma at the first level of higher education, but also – what is most important – fundamental and practical knowledge that is highly appreciated by employers, who will be prepared to offer good salaries.
